

BEST COPY

AVAILABLE

Anec 1

There have been numerous cases over the years of the personal interest of high-level officials in particular CIB items run proposed. In July 1962, the sudden appointment of a complete unknown as Prime Minister of Brazil required the preparation of a late 25X1A
Bulletin item to give some idea of the man's probable outlook and policies.

[REDACTED]

After publication of this item the next day, a cable from the US ^{Miss. in} ~~Consulate~~ ^{Brasilia} in ~~Sao Paulo~~ gave a favorable estimate of the Prime Minister, causing Secretary of State Rusk to complain to McCone about the CIB story. A couple of days later Rusk apologized, after receiving a cable from the embassy in Rio that supported the Bulletin position.

For many years it was incumbent on OGI analysts to call a control office in State for permission to use Limited Distribution cables in the CIB and the Weekly. Sometimes these requests sparked interest up the line 25X6 in State. When [REDACTED] wanted to use a cable reporting certain remarkable ideas that [REDACTED]

25X1A

Acec 2

25X6

[REDACTED] had about policy toward the USSR. [REDACTED] Baker,
at that time [REDACTED] in the State Department,

25X1A

called [REDACTED] directly to make sure that this material would not be used in such a way as to suggest that 25X6

[REDACTED]

~~SECRET~~

SECRET

31a

Dissents in the Bulletin, though rare, still occurred once in a while. A spectacular case arose in June 1965, following a week of effort by the State Department to squash any reporting to the effect that three-sentence warning note in the CIB was followed by a seven-sentence State footnote belittling the impact of Policy considerations were evidently governing State intelligence. Since it was decreed that the note and footnote must fit onto one page, it was necessary to put the footnote in the "script" type. A search of some hours around town produced the man who knew where the "gold ball" for this type was kept! Such are the practical difficulties that flow from interagency disputes.

25X6

25X6

A

25X6

SECRET